The Colgate Game.

After being defeated by Syracuse and being compelled to take a substitute in place of one of the regular men, Hamilton went to Colgate last Monday, expecting to be beaten. Their expectations were realized to the tune of 51 to 30. This score was very favorable and argues well for the outcome of our final game with Colgate. Everyone knows that Colgate has a strong team, and everyone knows the size of their floor, or rather lack of size. During the game several baskets were shot by Colgate men from positions well up toward the opposite end of the floor. The team reported fine treatment, their only kick being on the weather. During the night the thermometer went 33 degrees below and forgot to come back. That made it very interesting to arise at 5:45 a. m. But to return to the game.

The game was called at 8 o'clock by Referee Watson. From the first tip off it was evident that there was to be something doing. The play was fast and furious for five minutes, neither side scoring. If Colgate had not been equally good, Hamilton's blocking would have been said to be phenomenal. As it was it became a case of "when Greek meets Greek." Colgate passed to perfection and frequently got the ball under our basket, only to have the shot blocked. Then it would see-saw toward their goal and our throw would be stopped. Finally Stowell got loose and dropped in the first one for Colgate. Then Sherman opened up a little more and soon the scoreboard showed one for Hamilton. Then "Tommy" got another and the Colgate rooters began to squeeze. This proved effective and the Colgate score began to mount. Hamilton's passing fell down a little and Colgate's became a little better. Hamilton had a number of tries, but Sherman was the only one who had any success. He got one more and Sicard got one. This ended our scoring for the first half. Stowell cut loose and about once in so often he would drop the ball into the net with an admirable accuracy. He had seven goals to his credit in this half. The other crimson players got two apiece with the exception of Coster, who had business elsewhere. The captains, Runge and Sherman, broke even on fouls, each throwing two.

The second half was better. The Buff and Blue players appeared like a different team from the first sound of the whistle. They went in with a whirl and Colgate went up in the air. Before they came down, the ball had reposed snugly in the net four times for Hamilton. They worked apparently to their limit, but they could not keep up with the Buff and Blue players. They slowly came up and by a couple of fluke baskets got a lead again. When the smoke of conflict cleared away the scoreboard showed 20 points scored by Hamilton in this half, and 23 by Colgate. Sherman was the star for Hamilton and played rings around Runge, Colgate's much vaunted athlete. He scored four more points, getting one more basket and two more fouls, than Runge. The fouls in the game were not numerous. Sherman got all that were called on Colgate, while Runge missed one the other way round. Stowell had the largest individual score and was the best for Colgate. The line-up:

Hamilton 30.	Colgate 51.
	Right Forward.
Kuolt.	Runge, (Capt.)
	Left Forward.
Sicard.	Stowell
	Center.
Swetman.	Stringer.
	Right Guard.
Bramley.	Coster
	Left Guard.
Sherman, (Capt.)	Risley, Whelan
Baskets—Runge 4, Stowell 11, Stringer 5, Coster 2, Risley 2, Kuolt 1, Sicard 3, Bramley 2, Sherman 5. Fouls—Runge 3, Sherman 5. Referee—Watson, Williams, '05. Umpire—Porter, Colgate, '06. Timekeepers—Hadden and White. Length of halves—20 minutes.

The Musical Clubs' Trip.

The trip of the Musical Clubs was a grand success in every way. The fellows had a good time, they made a good impression, they had good houses, and excellent entertainment. At all three towns the alumni seemed well pleased with the performance of the Clubs and wanted to have them again. Financially the trip was largely an experiment and the result was very satisfactory. With this experience the trip could be made again with a good margin of profit.

The quartette with two or three of the Auburn fellows went early on Thursday morning to sing at the High School. The songsters did well and served as an excellent advertisement. Along in the afternoon the hordes rolled in and immediately hustled into their dress clothes. Dinner was served by the Alumni at the City Club, a very swagger affair with an informal reception attached. Among the alumni present were Dr. W. J. Beecher, '58, Dr. A. S. Hoyt, '72, L. K. R. Laird, '06, Rev. W. A. Aiken, '05, Fred H. Fay, '77, R. C. S. Drummond, '01, N. L. Drummond, '02, Stuart, Hunter, Allbright, Putnam, '03, Evans, Abbott, '04, Prof. McHarg, '00, Hosmer, ex-'06. After the dinner the crowd adjourned immediately to Music Hall where the concert was given. After the concert a Dutch lunch was served at the Hotel Majestic which about fifty attended. Songs, stories and general jollity made time fly till the "wee sma' hours" when with a few rousing songs and yells the crowd broke up. The arrangements at Auburn were in the hands of "Nelse" Drummond, '02, assisted by "Jim" Hosmer, ex-'06, and the whole corps of alumni certainly turned in to give the fellows a grand good time, and they did it.

At eleven-sixteen the next morning the troupe moved on to Elmira in a driving snow storm. "Alexandria" created some considerable amusement by showing up at the depot in a diminu-tive cap of antique vogue, he having lost his derby in the rout of the night previous.

At Elmira the fellows were mostly billeted around at the homes of the fair ones, and judging from the enthusiasm shown enjoyed this kind of entertainment immensely. The audience at the college was large and wildly enthusiastic. The Clubs immediately felt at home and urged on by the warmth of their reception, gave probably the best concert of the trip. After the concert a short reception was held in the college parlors. The Clubs made a fine impression at Elmira and can show there again next year if they have any desire to do so.

Saturday morning the line of march was resumed to Binghamton. Here the fellows were billeted around by the Binghamton end of the management, that is, Harry Mintz, '01. At four in the afternoon the Lady Jane Grey School held a reception for the Clubs, where dancing was enjoyed till about six. At eight the concert was held at the Monday Afternoon Club Auditorium. The stage accommodations were limited, but the audience made up for such small drawbacks. The seating capacity of the hall was oversold some two hundred, and about the same number were refused tickets. The concert was somewhat informal owing to the crowded space, but very successful and enjoyable both to audience and participants. After the hall was cleared there was dancing till midnight, punch and wafers being served in the parlors. The crowd was certainly royally entertained in Binghamton, and nothing but praise for the hospitality of the Parlor City was whispered.

That bugbear, the 4:50 train, brought back some of the fellows, but the one important man, Cady Allen, missed the train by two minutes after sitting up all night for it, with the result that the Sunday Chapel services had to get along without the assistance of the organ.

The trip was replete with interesting incidents and amusing episodes, for a recountal of which we refer anyone to George Sicard and Cady Allen. Stryker lent tone to the gang and established his reputation as a "social swell mut." Most of the fellows fell in love some time during the trip, and many were the lamentations heard because girls for Junior Week were already spoken for. The biggest hit of the trip was Karl Adams, who sat in the front row at Binghamton and unconsciously imitated Sicard's coon song antics, adding to it a pleased smile of complete appreciation. The Glee Club nearly broke down and the audience liked the confusion of the singers, though few of them could see Karl. A complete history of the trip would be too lengthy and too difficult, but suffice it to say the trip was a success. Let's do it again.

Syracuse Wins by Large Score.

The Varsity met the first defeat of the season on Saturday, Feb. 3, 1906, at the hands of the Syracuse University team. This defeat was not unexpected, but the drubbing was harder than we looked for and worse than Syracuse even hoped to give us. The score was 61 to 10. Both teams were crippled. Syracuse played without Captain Kirchgasser and was forced to retire Powell because of a sprained wrist. Hamilton sorely missed Sicard.

From the first of the game Hamilton seemed lost on the large floor. They played fast but loosely. With chances enough to make a good score, they found the basket but three times during the game. Syracuse excelled in passing. At times our 'varsity could not find the ball. Syracuse has a wonderful team.

The game was clean and the officials perfectly square. But one foul was called against Hamilton, while a number were called on Syracuse, four of which were costly.

Hamilton is hoping to make a much better showing in the return game on Monday evening; in fact we are going to do our level best to turn the tables and win against Syracuse, just as we did last year. The line-up and summary are as follows:

Hamilton 10.	Syracuse 61.
	Right Forward.
Kuolt.	Lee, Powell
	Left Forward.
LeMunyan.	Redlein.
	Center.
Swetman.	Riehl
	Right Guard.
Sherman, (Capt.)	Scully.
	Left Guard.
Bramley.	Dollaro.
Referee—Craushaw. Timer—Wm. C. Lowe. Scorer—H. L. Simmons. Baskets—Syracuse 30: Powell 10, Scully 5, Redlein 10, Riehl 1, Lee 3, Dollaro 1. Hamilton 3: Kuolt 1, LeMunyan 1, Bramley 1. Goals from fouls—Sherman 4, Powell 1.

Among the Colleges.

Shevlin is the only man at Yale entitled to wear three different Y's.

At Minnesota, the College song is sung every Friday morning in chapel.

Brown, Dartmouth and Williams hold a triangular debate March 3rd, next, each college selecting two teams.

Yale will send a two-mile track team to meet Pennsylvania on Washington's birthday at the meet to be held at Philadelphia.

The newspaper correspondents at Cornell have organized a Press Club, in order to prevent the sending out of false reports.

The new dormitory at Princeton, given by the ten classes, 1892-1901, is now roofed and ready for the completion of the interior.

A new club has been recently formed at Harvard. The object of the organization will be the teaching of the universal language known as Esperanto.

Prof. George W. Atherton, LL.D., recently offered his resignation as President of the Pennsylvania State College. The resignation has not yet been accepted.

Chicago University has held a competitive trial for the selection of a drawing of the college seal. All designs bearing the lamp were rejected, as it was thought it would suggested Standard Oil.

The Harvard corporation has voted to set aside Conant Hall as a dormitory for graduate students. Other steps have been taken to end the fight against the private dormitories and to restore a real college life and spirit.

At the University of Virginia a memorial tablet has been placed on the door of number thirteen, West Range, Edgar Allen Poe's room, while a student in the university. It is a large bronze slab, given by two Washington women.

The introduction of the preceptorial system has brought an addition of 50 per cent to the faculty of Princeton University. Most of the colleges in the country are represented in these new appointments. The preceptors rank as assistant professors.

Yale football authorities propose building a permanent stadium of steel, to take the place of the present wooden stands. They propose building it in the shape of an arc and to have part of it covered. The baseball diamond will be laid out on the same ground and the stadium used during the baseball season.

THE SUCCESSFUL TRIP of the Musical Clubs proves that we have at last found the proper plan on which to conduct the itinerary of the musical organizations. The Clubs made an excellent impression wherever they showed and no little excellent advertisement for the College resulted. No good for either Clubs or College can result from showing at small towns. At such places as Auburn, Binghamton, Elmira, Albany, the Clubs can draw good crowds, advertise the College and make a much better general showing than on such trips as we have been accustomed to for the last few years. The idea needs development and expansion. Longer trips are a possibility and imperative. We compare favorably with such colleges as Williams, Amherst, and Colgate, and we must endeavor to cover as much territory.

The loyal support of the alumni we can be sure of in such a project. The reception our Auburn alumni gave the Clubs was a royal one and the heartiest thanks of the fellows entertained and of the whole College are due these loyal friends. At Binghamton, too, the alumni were thoroughly interested and helped greatly.

Now that this experimental trip is over and acknowledged a grand success the College will look forward to its repetition. This pleasant and profitable branch of college industry and advertisement has been comparatively neglected. A good start has been made and to obtain the deserved results we must keep at it and avoid subsequent failures and slumps.

THE FOOTBALL DISCUSSION seems to be turning from the technique of the game as played on the field and confining its attention to the other sides of the situation. In the West particularly is this true and the Conference Board has supported the abolition of professional coaching, discontinuance of training table, limitation of admission fees to games, absence of all Freshmen from intercollegiate sport, and disqualification for one year of all athletes conditioned. Western experts take the sensible view that the rules are not all evil and that the risk of the game will remain so long as physical contact does. The open game means increase in serious injuries.

Harvard, the great protestant against the close game is the one team that has clung to formation plays and beef, against the efforts of Yale and Princeton to play a fast, open game. From the West no complaints come of the lack of open play. The remedy of rules is another case of disagreement of doctors and when the experts cannot agree, the educators better keep out of the discussion.

Beyond a doubt, however, the other evils that the Conference is attacking in the West come home to us keenly. The present system is a great financial drain on the small college and their constant effort to compare with the larger and wealthier universities may well become disastrous.

At present, however, neither the coaching system or any other feature of athletics is particularly distressing. The condition merely reflects our natural life. We cannot expect that our sport can in half a century stand on the same basis as does English sport with its development of half a dozen centuries. Evolution is essential and bound to come. Neither hot-house forcing nor fanatical reform is beneficial. Sanity and moderation will do more and do it better than any scare-crow agitation. So long as sport is clean and our system fair and square, we here on the Hill need worry little about the roughness or intensity of play. Conservatism is the best policy and moderation the best safety valve. Football and general athletics have worked wonders for us and we would not think of deserting them.

By next fall we expect to find the situation about where it was last year, with better rules among the individual colleges and a better understanding of football and life insurance by the public. The game will be as popular, as keen, as developing and healthy as ever.

Washington's Birthday.

The sentiment which is shown by the College on Washington's Birthday will determine whether the old custom of granting a holiday on the 22d of February shall or shall not be maintained. Every student believes that Washington's Birthday should be a holiday. In order to keep the custom it is simply required that we show our appreciation by being present when Rev. George Knox, D. D., delivers an address on that morning. His subject as heretofore announced, will be "The East is East and the West is West; but Are They?"

Dr. Knox has a wide and well-deserved reputation as a brilliant speaker, and to hear him is a pleasure rarely granted. The college should turn out in goodly numbers and make the vote for a holiday on Washington's Birthday an overwhelming one.

Finances of the Trip.

Below is a condensed statement of the manager's report on the Musical Clubs' trip. A loss of only twenty dollars is remarkable when we take into consideration the fact that the trip was really an experiment, the territory new, and general conditions not ideally favorable. With the proceeds of the Clinton concert and the "Prom" concert the management will be well ahead on the season. Efforts are being made to obtain dates for an eastern trip during Easter vacation, but no definite plans can as yet be made public.

Prom. Week.

Next week is Prom. Week. On Wednesday evening Psi U, Chi Psi at Sigma Phi Hall and Alpha Delta Phi will be "at home." On Thursday afternoon at four occurs the Prom. Concert given by the Glee and Mandolin Clubs. In the evening the Prom. will be held in the Gym. Dancing begins at nine-thirty, music by White's Orchestra, of Utica. On Friday evening Sigma Phi, Delta Kappa Epsilon and Delta Upsilon will entertain. The coasting will be good and everyone is looking forward to a most enjoyable week of festivities.

Following the precedent set last year the College limits the festivities to three days and receives Friday as a holiday. The Juniors are confident of giving a very successful Prom. and an unusually large percentage of the College will attend. Friday afternoon the Freshman-Sophomore basket-ball game is to be played, it being scheduled at this time to aid in the entertainment.

The Town and Gown.

The College was well represented at the mid-winter banquet of the Skenandoah Club of Clinton, last Thursday evening. Dr. Oren Root was the first speaker on the program. Clinton Scollard, '81, was the poet of the occasion, and "Nelse" Drummond, '02, came up from Auburn to respond to a toast. Dr. Wood's name was on the the program, but he was unable to be present. Prof. Nichols is the club's president and other members of the Faculty present were Professors Ibbotson, Shepard, S. J. Saunders, Babcock. The quartette, Messrs. Stryker, Sicard, Purdy, and White, sang with great credit to themselves, as always. Hayes, '05, Kellogg, '06, and Drummond, '06, were among those present. The banquet was a highly successful one and great good feeling between the town and College was manifested.

Risley Joins Colgate.

Floyd F. Risley, the former Colgate Academy and Mercersburg Academy star athlete, who entered the University of Pennsylvania last fall, has left Pennsylvania and registered at Colgate. Risley is the third of a trio of Colgate Academy men to leave Pennsylvania, Reuben Young and Frank Horr being the two others. Horr and young are in Syracuse University. Risley has a mark of six feet in the high jump and nearly twenty-three feet in the broad jump.

College Notes.

—Plumb, '09, has returned after a two weeks' illness.

—Advance cards for Junior Prom. were out Thursday night.

—"Uncle" says that all but three Freshmen have learned to swim.

—Toll, '04, now of Harvard University, was on the Hill Monday and Tuesday.

—Rev. A. S. Hoyt, '72, a professor in Auburn Theological Seminary, preached Sunday in Chapel.

—Dr. Wood is attending a theological conference at the Seminary in Auburn and addresses the meeting.

—Hamilton was well represented at the presentation of "La Tosca" by Sarah Bernhardt Tuesday evening.

—In Wednesday's chapel, Kneeland "hashed over his codfish with drippings—" so said "Heine" White.

—Judging from the temperature on the Hill during the past week the ice-men ought to have no kick coming.

—From all reports the fair ones of Binghamton made a strong hit with some members of the musical clubs.

—Several members of the Sorority attended the first act of "The Bell Boy", given recently in Clinton. At the end of that act they had become so unruly that an officer was forced to order them out.

—The Sophomores who elected Math. still have a cinch. No substitute has as yet been procured, much to their sorrow.

—Dr. Stryker was in New York Thursday and Friday. He was one of the speakers at the Columbia association dinner.

—Hacks for Junior week are now at a premium. If some are not imported many will have to walk to and from the festivities.

—Baseball practice has begun in a desultory way in the Gym. It might be a good thing for the batteries to get to work early.

—Frozen ears seem to be the style. Coach Watson, Brokaw, Sicard, and White have painful remembrances of the frost king.

—It is notable how the reviews pile up for Junior week. Of course there will be a great amount of work done in preparation for them.

—The Job Lots had a hard practice last Wednesday. They are getting into fine form and expect to win many games on their schedule.

—Everyone wears a preoccupied expression now, terrible to behold. It truly is a great responsibility to have a girl on for the Prom.

—Work on New South has stopped temporarily. When the weather permits operations will be renewed on a larger scale than heretofore.

—Again the snow is with us. In spite of frozen ears, several have been heard to remark that they hope it will last through the coming week.

—Many of the Seniors took the opportunity to see a Shakespearean reading and attended "The Merchant of Venice," Wednesday evening.

—Wilson, '09, who, owing to the death of his father has been absent from College, has returned. His absence was strongly felt by the basket-ball squad.

—Last Saturday morning singing was omitted from the regular morning chapel. However, the grief of the College was adequately mollified by a solo or two on Sunday.

—The ignorance shown by some students in that elementary subject, geography, is appalling. In American History last Tuesday, one of the Juniors mentioned Chicago, Ind.

—Once more the stillness of the cold winter nights is broken by the creaking of wheelbarrows going and coming from the college woodpile. Fuel has been a necessity this past week.

—The 'Varsity got back from Colgate all right, although they had to rise at 5:45. When they struck Clinton trouble began. The walk up the Hill was productive of ten frozen ears.

—The sweaters for the football men have arrived. How about the scrub-caps? They certainly earned them and as they were promised the management ought to live up to promises.

—The knowledge gained in the geography class is marvelous. Aron, '09, had the Nile rise in Asia Minor and flow north; while another had Lake Huron as one of the principal mountains in Palestine.

—The Library isn't the most cheerful place on the Campus at its best, and when its temperature gets down to the freezing point one is tempted to make his visits to that storehouse of knowledge few, far between and brief.

—The Job Lots basket-ball team is at it again with "Bill" Bloyer and "Captain" Bennett scintillating as the bright particular stars. With a heterogeneous line-up the Job Lots managed to get trimmed by the Sophomores last Wednesday.

—Are not the fears, expressed for Cady Allen's smile two weeks ago, fully realized? Last Sunday morning, he says, he was brought to the Binghamton station in a cab, just in time to see the train, bearing the Musical Clubs, draw out. Result: cutting chapel—no music—and——Speaking of signs of spring, most of which seem to have departed, there is still with us one infallible sign of the approaching vernal season. Judson remains steadfast to his post at the "Gym" with mit and glove firmly striving to get his arm in shape for the great American (outdoor) game.

—Our extremely pugnacious friend at the College Commons ought to learn his place a little better and keep it. His magisterial and grandly dignified pomposity is at times slightly displeasing. Some time when he assumes this odious attitude the gods will spit fire and he will be no more.

—The plunge is warm, actually warm. For the past few days the water has been kept at a temperature of 70 degrees, and many fellows are taking advantage of it. When you meet a fellow now, even up till eleven at night, he holds up two fingers and cries: "Come on in, the water's fine."

—The chess tournament is down to the semi-finals with four men competing for the honor of having his name graven on the silver disc of the Rice chess table. It is to be hoped that somebody will get behind the chess movement and not let it die a quiet death while a spark of life remains. It will probably need a good deal of fanning to kindle much of a flame.

—The Freshman basket-ball team defeated the Clinton High School for the second time this season on the "Gym" floor last Monday night. The final score was 21 to 12, and although the Clinton lads played a fast game they were not in the running at any part of the game. For the Freshmen Roenke and Osborne had the largest number of goals to their credit.

—With the thermometer at 25 below somewhere in town, there seems no general desire to go swimming in the Oriskany. Owing to the fact that some of the Freshmen have not yet learned the trick of swimming, the tank has been kept warm for the last week or more. It is an ill wind that blows nobody good.

—The Freshman basket-ball game with Clinton was excellent, considering the support the team received. A handful were out, who thoroughly enjoyed themselves with songs and yells, but the greater part of the class was absent. Such conduct cannot be condemned sufficiently. There must be more class spirit. Wake up!

—Four Freshmen took a sort of high dive, flying leap over the Psi U. ditch last Monday, but managed to extricate themselves and collect their scattered limbs without mishap to themselves or the sled. The curve was in tricky mood, and without a good lean to larboard a man was as apt to go over as inside the curve. We would advise those among the Freshmen who have not learned the art of making the Hill without mishap to get busy in time for Junior.

The Gym. Show.

A meeting of the Gym. show committee was held on Thursday and Chairman Sherman showed that he has matters well in hand. The advance tickets will be out next week. It was decided to charge a dollar and a half for seats in the dress circle.

The college body must not forget that this show depends upon cooperation. We must make a success of it. It will do more towards advertising the College than a good athletic team. The rehearsals for the pyramids and other "stunts" are held twice a week, and everything points to a good show. Every man must arrange to be there that night, and have all his friends there. Talk it up from now on.

A few months ago the Intercollegiate Socialist Society was organized, and plans are on foot to form various university chapters. "Not to produce socialists, but to create students of socialism" is the purpose of the society. Harvard is one of the institutions which has taken up a full course on "Methods of Social Reform."

The University of Nebraska has at last broken into the "Big Five" debating league, consisting of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Northwestern, Chicago and Michigan. The University of Wisconsin has decided to meet Nebraska in debate and it is quite probable that the debate will occur at Madison some time during the spring.
